PRESIDENT WILSON WILL SPEAK ALONG BROAD LINES IN ADDRESS DEALING WITH PRESENT CRISIS

Is Assumed He Will Ask for War Against Germany or Declaration of State of War

TOUCH INCIDENTS LIGHTLY
Officials Feel That Only Fundamental Questions Should be Given Consideration

PUBLIC OPINION SOUNDED
General Situation Unchanged by Hollweg's Address

Washington, March 29.—While it is assumed from the defensive measures already taken by the military arm of the government that President Wilson in addressing Congress next week will ask for war against Germany or a declaration that a state of war exists, it is known that he will speak along broad lines, dealing lightly with incidents leading up to the present crisis.

Officials feel now that the time is past when incidents should be discussed and henceforth that only fundamental questions of both present and future American safety should be considered. As a result the President is gathering opinions and suggestions from all sides as to the sort of address to make in the coming crucial hours.

Unchanged by Hollweg's Speech.
The general situation has not been changed by the speech of the German Chancellor, Von Bethmann-Hollweg today, according to the view tonight of officials who read press reports of the portion of the address dealing with the United States and submarine warfare.

Germany, it was stated, has consistently attempted to lay the blame for her acts on other nations. On previous occasions President Wilson has taken the position that Germany is in no way justified in carrying on submarine warfare because of the British blockade.

Only complete abandonment of unrestricted submarine warfare could change the attitude of the United States, it has been said semi-officially recently, and press reports indicate that the German Chancellor did not even discuss the possibility.

Cabinet Meeting Today.
The President will meet his cabinet tomorrow for the last time before beginning the actual writing of his message to Congress, and therefore it is expected that the German situation will be dealt with very fully. He is hopeful that no time will be lost in organizing the House, so that he may deliver his address as soon as possible after the extra session convenes.

The attitude of both Congress and public opinion is sought in order to represent both as fully as possible. As to the former, the President is anxious not to transgress the constitutional prerogatives of Congress as the war-making body. It is realized that in the ultimate analysis, regardless of what the President may recommend, the probability for decision rests there.

Public Opinion. It was said here, as indicated by clippings from newspapers in all parts of the country, unmistakably favors decisive action. Belligerency is not confined to the Atlantic and Pacific sections if opinions gathered by the administration are a true index. Demand for action on the part of Congress and the President comes also from the interior section between the Alleghenies and the Sierras. The views reported by some mid-western congressmen as to the spathy of their constituents, is considered more local than general.

The greatest point under consideration by the administration at the present time is whether Germany has not unmistakably shown, through a long succession of violations of international law, that the United States must definitely unite with the liberal democracies of the world against the four most complete autocracies, both for its present and its future safety.

World's Peace Endangered.
All hope has been lost, as shown in the note to Germany as to the treaty of 1871, in the good faith of the present German rulers. The Belgian invasion and deportations, the ruthless submarine warfare, the attempts to enslave neutral countries in plots, and the general conduct of the war, have convinced many officials that the German military system as at present directed is a permanent danger to the world's peace.

Blame of War Plots.

Germany Not to Blame if U. S. Enters War, Declares Hollweg

Imperial Chancellor Asserts U-Boat Warfare Was Undertaken for Nation's Defense and If Action Warrants Increased Bloodshed
the Responsibility Falls Upon Other Shoulders

Berlin, March 29 (via Sayville).—Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor, in a speech in the reichstag today declared that Germany had undertaken submarine warfare for its defense, and added:
"If the American nation considers this a cause for which to declare war against the German nation with which it has lived in peace for more than one hundred years, if this action warrants an increase of bloodshed, we shall not have to bear the responsibility for it."
The chancellor made important declarations concerning Germany's policy toward the United States and Russia. He asked, in speaking of the relations with the United States, and then proceeded to answer the question by reviewing the causes which led up to the German use of submarines in unrestricted warfare.

No Intention of Attack.
"Germany never had the slightest intention of attacking the United States of America and does not have such intention now," he never desired war against the United States of America and does not desire it today," was his declaration.

The chancellor, whose speech is reported by the Overseas News Agency (the German official news bureau) said further:
"Within the next few days the greetings of the American nation will be conveyed by President Wilson for an extraordinary session of Congress in order to decide the question of war or peace between the American and German nations."

"Germany never had the slightest intention of attacking the United States of America and does not have such intention now," it never desired war against the United States of America and does not desire it today.

Expectations Disappointed.
"How did these things develop? More than once we told the United States that we made unrestricted use of the submarine weapon expecting that England could be made to observe, in her policy of blockade, the laws of humanity and international agreements. Our expectations, which we maintained during eight months, have been disappointed completely; England not only did not give up her illegal and indefensible policy of blockade, but interrupting it intensified it. England, together with her allies, arrogantly rejected the peace offers made by us and our allies and proclaimed her war aims which aim at our annihilation and that of our allies."

"Then we took unrestricted submarine warfare into our hands; we had to for our defense." Germany Not Responsible.
"If the American nation considers this a cause for which to declare war against the German nation with which it has lived in peace for more than 100 years, if this action warrants an increase of bloodshed, we shall not have to bear the responsibility for it. The German nation, which feels neither hatred nor hostility against the United States of America, shall also bear and overcome this."

Dealing with Russia, the imperial chancellor said that the Russian emperor had not listened to the German emperor's advice to no longer oppose the justified wishes of his nation for reform.

"Had Russia's attention been concentrated on internal reconstruction," said (Continued on Page Seven).

PLANS FOR ARMY BEGIN TAKING ON DEFINITE SHAPE

President and Senator Chamberlain Discuss Steps for Enlarging Force Rapidly

TALK UNIVERSAL TRAINING
Mr. Wilson is Said to Have Given
No Indication of the Course
He Will Pursue

Washington, March 29.—Plans to forward further preparedness measures for the army today began to assume definite form.
How an increased armed force may be promptly secured for the present emergency as well as universal training as a national policy was discussed by President Wilson with Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, chairman of the Senate military committee. At the same time Secretary Baker and administration leaders in Congress considered legislation needed for the military establishment.

Army Problem Fully Discussed.
Senator Chamberlain told the President that he believed the executive had authority now without further action by Congress to raise at once an army of more than 400,000 men increasing the regular army to full strength and calling out all of the National Guard at war strength, with co-operation from state executives.

There was no intimation that the President was considering such a step immediately, but the whole field of measures necessary to secure a larger force was discussed.
For the present needs, the War Department, Secretary Baker said, has decided to submit to Congress a budget containing virtually the same provisions as the regular army appropriation bill, which failed at the last session.

Senator Chamberlain also agreed to expedite the bill in the Senate. To this end he said he would not again offer universal training bill as a rider if it would delay prompt action on the supply measure.

Discuss Universal Training Plan.
The conference between the President and Senator Chamberlain, at the latter's request, was primarily to discuss the Senator's universal training plan. He asked the President to endorse the general principle of compulsory training in his forthcoming message to Congress. The President, it was said, gave no indication of his probable course.

After leaving the White House the senator said he was "still hopeful" of administration's endorsement of his measure and also expected increased optimism over prospects of passage by the Senate of some form of universal training measure.

As a result of his talk with the President, Senator Chamberlain expects to make several important amendments to his bill, particularly with the idea of increasing the number of trained soldiers it would produce in a short period. To this end he proposes to raise the age limit of youth subject to training from 18 to 20 years, to "militarize" his bill, particularly if secure more mature men, and to begin the training periods sooner than provided in the tentative bill, which proposes that about 500,000 youths be trained annually with six months' continuous service.

BEAUTIFUL YOUNG WOMAN IN KINSTON COMMITTS SUICIDE

Fannie Stanford Ends Her Life by Poison Route at Early Dawn
(Special Star Telegram)

Kinston, N. C., March 29.—Fannie Stanford, about 20 years of age, committed suicide by drinking poison in a South Kinston house early this morning. The coroner said the woman was "one of the most beautiful he ever saw." She was a striking brunette of medium build.

The police officers who saw the girl drink lye, a carbolic preparation. She died in a few minutes. The authorities believe she was a novice in the underworld and was dependent over her situation.

There was an all-night party in the house of the suicide, the police say, the girl's hostess celebrating her birthday. At the first crack of dawn an auto full of gay female guests left the house. The girl was seen to enter a Buick Buick several days old on her face indicated that the girl had been brutally assaulted. She is said to have been acquainted with a man up State. She left no word, written or oral, explaining her act. Efforts today to communicate with relatives of the victim at Snow Camp, N. C., were unavailing.

For the first time since the British and French troops began their seizure of ground between Arras and Soissons evacuated by the Germans, a period of comparative calm has set in. The only advance recorded by either the British or French war offices is the capture of the village of Neuville Bourjonval, about ten miles northwest of Reims, by the troops of Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig. Only artillery activity is reported from the front held by the French troops, it still being quite violent in Champagne on the sector of Malmaison de Champagne, around Hill 304, near Verdun, and in Lorraine near Embarras.

Along the eastern front in Russia the situation remains unchanged. The Russian and Austro-German armies being virtually inactive, owing to the thaw. Petrograd reports the repulse of Russian attacks along the Onega and Coobanov rivers in Rumania, but says the Russians put down an attempt by the Polish allies to advance along the Poleskian-Tecutich road.

The British forces operating in Palestine have made an advance of 15 miles against the Turks, capturing the entire staff of the 53rd Turkish division, including a general and 300 men.
Over Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, has visited German army headquarters to confer with Emperor Wilhelm. Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff, first quarter-master general.

The Austrians are keeping up their offensive against the Italians on the eastern front in the Austro-Italian theatre. After having for several days heavily shelled positions on the Carso front, the Austrians delivered an attack but met with repulse, according to the Italian war office.

Nothing new has come through concerning the operations in Macedonia.

COST OF FEEDING AVERAGE FAMILY HAS GROWN TO $425.54

This Compares With a Food Bill of Only $330.30 in 1913.
Washington, March 29.—The annual food bill of the average family has grown from $330.30 in 1913 to $425.54 at present, the Department of Labor announced today in a review of food prices. In ten years, the department's experts estimate, the advance in the cost of food has so far outstripped the increase in the workman's wage. He drew $3 a day in 1907 now finds himself just 69 cents a day worse off.

LIVESTOCK MEET TO BE PERMANENT AND ANNUAL EVENT

Conference Adjourns After Adopting Programme of Constructive Promotion Work

PRONOUNCED BIG SUCCESS
Two Sessions Yesterday Filled With Interesting and Instructive Talks by Experts

After voting unanimously "to make this a permanent annual exposition and conference to be held at Wilmington," the North Carolina Livestock Exposition and Conference adjourned after ending a two days' session. The first event of the kind and scope held in North Carolina was a decided success, in the estimation of those most directly interested in promoting it, and compared very favorably with similar livestock conferences and expositions held in other states of the Southeast, according to Mr. C. S. Ucker, vice-president of the Southern Livestock & Development Organization, which took an active part in the promotion of this and other similar meetings held in the South Atlantic states.

Just before adjournment, closing the last of two sessions yesterday, during which addresses on various phases of the livestock industry and related subjects were delivered by nearly a dozen specialists of the National and State departments of agriculture and others, Mr. G. Herbert Smith, of Wilmington, chairman of the resolutions committee of the conference, made a brief and enthusiastic speech on the subject of the housing house industry, which elicited hearty applause. He read a set of resolutions, which were unanimously adopted and which, in addition to declaring for making the exposition and conference a permanent annual affair, authorized the appointment by the chair of a committee of seven, which "shall, either through its own activity or in co-operation and co-ordination with any other similar body having the same common ultimate objects, labor diligently" to effect the eradication of the cattle tick; propagate diversified agriculture based upon the livestock industry; the importation of better breeds of livestock; and the organization, co-operation and co-ordination of the owners of idle lands in the State, similar to the movement effected heretofore in Georgia and Florida.

Many Able Addresses.
At the morning session yesterday, over which Dr. W. E. Skinner, of Chicago, secretary of the International Dairy Association, presided, in the absence of Congressman R. N. Page, who was detained, there was an able and helpful address by Dr. E. W. Moore, director of the North Carolina Experiment Station and Extension Work, who outlined "A State Programme for Agricultural Work"; Mr. L. I. Guion, secretary Federal Land Bank Columbia, S. C., in entertaining and instructive manner, described "The Relation of Federal Land Banks to the Livestock Industry"; Prof. Lyman Carrier, of the United States Department of Agriculture, and Mr. H. P. Shelton, of Speed, N. C., one of the leading exhibitors at the exposition, and "Meat Production" was ably presented by Mr. George M. Rommel, of the United States Department of Agriculture.

At the afternoon session, over which Mr. C. S. Ucker presided in the absence of Congressman H. L. Godwin, very interesting and instructive talks were given on "Dairying by Experts," by Mr. A. J. Reed, North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station; "Soy Beans" by Mr. W. J. Morse, United States Department of Agriculture; on "Hogs and Pastures" by Mr. Dan T. Gray, North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station; and "Sheep Industry," by Dr. F. R. Marshall, United States Department of Agriculture. Col. Fred A. Olds, director of the North Carolina Hall of History, representing the Manuscript Commission, Baltimore, made a brief and stirring address dealing some heavy blows at the free range and cattle tick, in which he boldly called a spade a spade and elicited hearty applause.

Congressman George E. Hood, of the Third district, sent a letter which was read by Mr. Ucker, expressing regret at his inability to be present and all his place on the programme, but saying that he had received telegrams from Speaker Champ Clark and Majority Leader Claude Kitchen calling him to Washington in time to attend the Democratic House caucus Friday morning. Mr. Ucker said he presumed Mr. Godwin was detained by the same cause, though no explanation of his absence was offered.

Pasturage and Soils.
Pasturage and soils were the subjects for discussion at the morning session of the Conference yesterday with an admirable introduction by Dr. W. E. Skinner, of Chicago, Ill., secretary of the International Dairy Association, who spoke briefly of the National Livestock Show, which will be held this year at Columbus, Ohio. The first show to be conducted under the auspices of the association represented by Dr. Skinner was held last year at Springfield, Mass.

Dr. Skinner could not but smile, he declared, when he had read in the morning paper that Wilmington's show could compare favorably with that at Springfield. There were 398 head of cattle exhibited there last year and he expects to have 1,500 head this year. He spoke of his 32 years of work (Continued on Page Two)

SECRETARY DANIELS GIVES DIPLOMAS TO 183 NEW ENSIGNS

Tells Them That Upon Their Coolness, Leadership and "Ability to Shoot Straight" May Depend Fate
of Decisive Battle.

Annapolis, Md., March 29.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels today held up to nearly 200 midshipmen who received their diplomas from him, the record of the heroes of the navy, particularly the late Admiral Dewey, and urged them to go into the service with the bright record of those former American sea fighters as shining marks to which to strive.
The graduates were told by the Secretary that the Nation expected them to be ready "for the day that may come—how soon, who can tell?—when upon your coolness and knowledge and leadership and ability to shoot straight may depend the fate of a decisive naval engagement."
Called to the colors three months ahead of time because of the strained international situation, the 183 midshipmen of the class, which under ordinary circumstances would not have graduated until June, tonight are on their way to take up the duties as ensigns.

BAKER PRAISES MEN OF THE SECOND REGIMENT

Colonel Metts Receives Letter From Secretary of War

Third Regiment Expected to be Mustered in Again Soon—Guardsmen Hospitably Treated by the Citizens of Goldsboro.

(Special Star Telegram.) Goldsboro, N. C., March 29.—The hour of the parade of the Second Regiment and its review by Governor Blockett and staff, General Young and staff, Mayor Higgins and city officials has been changed from tomorrow morning to 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, by reason of the Governor's inability to get here before 2:30 in the afternoon, being detained at the capitol by important matters of state.

Goldsboro, N. C., March 29.—Col. John Van B. Metts, of Wilmington, in command of the Second Regiment, North Carolina National Guard, now quartered in this city, which at present comprises 50 officers and 750 men, received a letter today from Secretary of War Baker expressing appreciation for services rendered on the Texas border by the regiment, also highly praising the officers and men for their excellent and efficient work.

Orders were received today by Maj. J. L. Hughes, of the U. S. Army, who came to this city for the purpose of mustering out the Second Regiment, which orders have been suspended, to proceed to Raleigh with his assistants, which leaves the impression among local officers that the Third Regiment recently mustered out in Raleigh will immediately be mobilized and again mustered into service.

It was announced at camp this morning that the companies comprising the engineer corps of the Second Regiment would not be brought here at present. Last night several hundred citizens, victors and soldiers enjoyed a most creditable open air concert by the Second Regiment band, following which officers and men were driven over the city in automobiles furnished by local owners.

Today has been a busy one at the camp, setting company sections laid off, tents pitched and all the detail of camp life arranged for a season's sojourn and military routine.

The soldiers of the regiment are looking well today, and the condition of Private Clarence Thompson, of this city, who is critically ill with pneumonia, is pronounced a shade better.

A military contingent of 25 men has been added to the police force of the city, and will be on duty at all hours, with headquarters at the city hall. These military policemen will be under the orders of the officer of the day, and will act also in conjunction with the regular city police when needed.

NO EVIDENCE THAT THIRD WILL NOT BE CALLED SOON

Raleigh, N. C., March 29.—A telegram from the War Department is to the effect that there is no reason known there why dates for the inspection of the companies of the Third Regiment, North Carolina National Guard, at their home stations between April 12 and 15, are not being called. The War Department has no intention to recall this regiment into service at any early date. The inspection will be by Captain Albert T. Rich, for the War Department and by Major Thomas Stringfield on the part of the State. They begin April 13 with the Raleigh company and finish with the Asheville company April 30. The telegram from the War Department advised that if there should be developments that would interfere with the proposed inspections, the State authorities would be advised promptly.

To Be Visited by Governor Bickett, Adjutant General Royser and Major Peterson go tomorrow to Goldsboro as the guests of the mayor and the town of Goldsboro in connection with a big barbecue to the men of the entire Second Regiment and there will also be a review of the regiment by Governor Bickett and General Royser and staff.

"OVERHILLS" PURCHASED BY ROCKEFELLER AND HARRIMAN

Sons of William and E. H. Respectively, Invest in Carolinian (Special Star Correspondence.) Fayetteville, N. C., March 29.—The purchase of "Overhills" by Percy A. Rockefeller and W. Averell Harriman is reported here today, apparently on good authority. The erection of a large tourist hotel on the "Overhills" property has been contemplated by a company organized by Sheriff James F. Jordan, of Greensboro, with B. N. Duke, R. J. Reynolds, and other well known men as backers.

What effect the transfer of ownership will have on this plan is not known here, but it is thought that Messrs. Rockefeller and Harriman will use the property for hunting and recreation purposes. Mr. Rockefeller has spent much time at "Overhills" this winter, passing through this city with his family only yesterday on his way back to New York from a stay there, his private car being run from "Overhills" as a special and attached to an A. C. L. train here.

The property consists of 30,000 acres and it is said that the purchase price was $500,000.

Mr. Rockefeller is the son of William Rockefeller and nephew of John D. Rockefeller. Mr. Harriman is a son of the late E. H. Harriman.

"Overhills" formerly belonged to Congressman William Kent. The estate is located 14 miles northwest of Fayetteville, Overhills station being on the A. C. L. between this city and Greensboro.

CLAIMS WIFE IS HAPPY FOR FIRST TIME IN 15 YEARS

Another Strong Statement on Tan-lac is Offered by J. A. Atkins.

"When I tell you, sir, that my wife had not seen a well day for 15 years, and that only since starting on Tan-lac has she shown any improvement, you may know how glad I am to shake your hand and tell you personally that your medicine has done for us."

The speaker was J. A. Atkins, of Route 4, Raleigh. He was talking to the Tan-lac Man.

He said further: "Mrs. Atkins suffered from stomach trouble which had its origin in indigestion. It seemed that everything she ate disagreed with her, and gave pain and headaches and also she suffered from heart fluttering. From year to year things got worse and for the past 3 years nothing seemed to give her relief. Often she would faint away and had to remain in bed most of the time. Nervousness and weakness had my wife in such a state as to cause us to almost give up hope. Then along came Tan-lac."

"Now things have taken a decided change with Mrs. Atkins. She can eat anything she wants, for indigestion is gone; her sleep is refreshing and, in fact, she is so much improved that we feel sure Tan-lac will do the work for all sick people, as it helped in this case when all others failed."

Herbs, roots, barks and berries are blended in Tan-lac and make it an ideal spring tonic—blood and system purifier and invigorant. Tan-lac builds strength and health through the blood and nerves after helping nature free the system from congested impurities. Genuine Tan-lac is sold in Wilmington by the Bellamy Drug Store. Each town has its Tan-lac dealer.—Adv.

In promoting the livestock industry, beginning at Fort Worth, Texas, where he aided in organizing a livestock show all through its development in the Middle West and the far West.

He proclaimed as a broad working principle of working knowledge that without animal husbandry there can be no agriculture worthy the name and cited New England as an example. He showed how the business men had found that with the abandonment of stock-growing because of the free lands of the West, agriculture had gradually been given up also and then they found that factories were being moved West also, so that steps were recently taken to promote stock-growing in a practical way in New England.

Practical Working Principles.

Dr. E. W. Kilgore, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Raleigh, made a very practical address on soil improvement. The only real basis of progress in agriculture, he pointed out, is not the use of fertilizers, but the increase in volume of products for an entire State but upon the yield per acre. Unless a farmer can grow a bale of cotton per acre or grow enough corn to pay a profit after all the expense, he is not doing his job. He pointed out, he thought he had better hire himself out.

He pleaded for an improvement of soil fertility as a basis for stock-growing and gave practical advice about the growing of leguminous crops. There isn't a surer way to run down soils, he declared, than to grow forage crops and then cut them for hay, as by that means practically 80 per cent of the nitrogen is lost.

In growing peas, soja beans and clovers, cutting them for hay impoverishes the soil and does not enrich it.

In growing peas, soja beans and clovers and feeding them to cattle and returning the manure to the soil improves it slowly.

Grazing cattle on peas, soja beans and clovers improves the land twice as fast as where the manure is returned. This is the ideal way to not only improve the soil but saves labor.

Since these things are so, therefore, grow enough feed for both soil and cattle, growing sufficient crops to improve the soil and also to feed the cattle.

Where there are not enough soil improving crops for the stock and also for the soil, give them to the one that needs it most, giving the soil the benefit of the doubt.

There are now only 23 counties in Eastern North Carolina that are in quarantine, according to Dr. E. P. Vager, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who spoke of his eleven years of experience in tick eradication work and particularly of what he had been able to do in Eastern North Carolina.

There are just two ways to get rid of the tick, he said, one is to starve it and the other is to stop its breeding. He placed the responsibility of carrying disease upon the tick, declaring that this is the real objection. He exhibited charts showing clearly the effects of ticks upon cattle.

A Challenge to Brunswick. Dr. W. K. Lewis, in charge of the tick eradication work for the U. S. Department of Agriculture in South Carolina, told of the splendid work that has been done in that State. In the last three years 20 counties covering 13,000 square miles have been recovered from quarantine at a cost of $90,000 to the State and $30,000 to the Federal Government. He estimates that the value of the cattle treated has been increased a million dollars while a half million loss from disease has been obliterated. He thought that this as a business proposition was indeed a splendid showing.

He served notice that by July 1st, there would be 100 dipping vats in Horry county and that it was only a matter of months before the tick would be ancient history in that county. Brunswick and Columbus must keep their cattle on their side of the line, he declared, or else eradicate the tick from their borders.

He was glad to know that Columbus has already started this work and hoped that Brunswick would soon fall into line. It is a plain business proposition, he declared, and the county that wants to progress must get rid of the tick.

That there shall be a State in the South that will elect one governor and one General Assembly, none of whose members will ever seek office again, was the hope expressed by Hon. L. I. Quion, secretary of the Federal Farm Land Bank, of Columbia, S. C., who read a very interesting and instructive paper explaining the relation of the Farm Loan Bank to the livestock industry. It is possible to bring land up to a high state of cultivation without livestock, he declared, but no nation has ever done it. For the future prosperity of this country, it is necessary to change this from a nation of renters to a nation of landowners. Co-operation is an absolute essential and it is for that reason that the Federal Bank will lend no money unless there are at least ten men who are willing to form an association. He believed that these banks would make it possible to rebuild the South in years.

A Plea For Housewives.

Incidentally Mr. Quion made an earnest plea for the housewives of the South, declaring that in North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, the wives of many farmers are veritable slaves.

Livestock are factors in building up farms because they reduce labor and utilize much of the otherwise waste products. Good pastures are necessary also. He thought no man should own more land than he can fence. As for tick eradication he had seen and he knew that it was a good thing.

In order to grow livestock, there must be done as cheerily as there is anywhere else, declared Prof. Lyman Carrier, of the United States Department of Agriculture, who spoke on the subject of pastures and answered many questions about proper kinds of grasses to plant in this section. He spoke of his work in southwest Virginia in the famous blue grass section. While blue grass is good in some respects he thought Bermuda grass is better because it will grow in hotter and drier weather.

He knew of the mortal antipathy that most farmers have for wire grass which is the common name for Bermuda and had never been able to find a satisfactory explanation as to why farmers always want to fight grass.

Mr. B. F. Shelton, of Speed, who had a fine exhibit of cattle at the exposition, spoke briefly, pointing out that a pasture for the working stock to graze on, located in proximity to the barn on a farm is a paying proposition and one worth while.

Hood Expresses Much Interest. In a letter to Mr. T. W. Hughes, of the Chamber of Commerce, read at the opening of the afternoon session by Mr. Ucker, Congressman Hood gave assurance of his "cordial good wishes and hearty co-operation in the great work in which you are engaged."

He hoped that your meeting will be fruitful of renewed efforts on the part of our people to enlarge the opportunities for stock raising in this section of North Carolina," said Mr. Hood, who proceeded in his letter to point out and emphasize some of these opportunities. A letter of regret also was read from Mr. R. S. Curtis, who was not present to fill his place on the programme.

Opportunity For Dairying. That Eastern North Carolina is well adapted by climate, soils, crop possibilities, ample markets and demand for a very profitable farm dairying industry was conclusively shown by Mr. A. J. Reed, who said the only reason he was able to assign why the section has not developed this industry is that it is so blessed with other opportunities that it has never found dairying necessary, as it was in Piedmont Carolina, Wisconsin and Michigan. He predicted, however, that this industry may be found necessary in this section of the State. He deplored the fact that on a large proportion of the farms in Eastern North Carolina there is not a cow, and he could not see how a farmer could raise children without milk and butter. Certainly there is no cheaper, more economical, wholesome, or palatable food than milk and butter.

He declared, and he argued strongly that there be family cow on each farm, to be fed, of course, not on bought feed but on home grown feed.

Hogs and Sheep Profitable. Prof. Dan T. Gray and Dr. Marshall, experts in their lines, showed the profitability and the practicality of hog raising and sheep raising, respectively, in Eastern North Carolina. Mr. Gray declared that there is no section anywhere better adapted to the raising of hogs at a big profit than this section. He showed conclusively that a pig can be produced at from three to five cents per pound and told his audience just what programme to follow to do it, he emphasized the fact that it can be done on bought feed or by feeding corn alone, even home raised corn.

Mr. Ucker and Dr. Marshall both declared that the dog problem will be easily solved, in connection with sheep raising, just as soon as the farmers reach the point that they place a higher value on meat and wool, both now so much in demand and of such high prices, than they do upon dogs.

Just before adjournment of the conference Mr. Ucker surrendered the gavel to President M. W. Jacob, of the Chamber of Commerce, and expressed the thanks of the Southern Settlement & Development Organization to the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce and the men who filled places on the programme and all who co-operated and supported the movement and helped in any way to make the conference a success.

Wilmington Packing Houses. Mr. G. Herbert Smith was the last speaker on the programme. He took occasion in his speech to proclaim the fact that Wilmington is soon to have two packing houses in operation—that the Carolina Packing Company has awarded the contract and work is to be pushed on the construction of its plant, while the Cape Fear Packing Company will have its plant constructed between now and next September. He showed the blue print of the latter plant. He referred to the many addresses and talks made at the conference emphasizing the importance of livestock raising, but declared that the industry cannot be profitable unless there be established markets for livestock and that he was very earnest in his desire that Wilmington should be the great livestock market in North Carolina. He thought such a market could not be established and maintained with competition and for that reason he had refused to consolidate with the Carolina Packing Company and was going to establish a second packing plant. He wanted the operation of all the people of the section, business men and farmers, to be given to the packing industry here.

Resolutions Adopted. Mr. Smith then presented the resolutions drafted by a committee of which he was chairman, composed of Messrs. Smith, D. L. Gore, G. A. Cardwell, W. F. Aberly, A. S. Kirby, R. E. L. Brown, S. P. McNair, W. W. Love, N. A. Currie, which committee shall, either through its own activity or in co-operation and co-ordination with any other similar body, having the same common ultimate objects, labor diligently to effect the following:

"First: To assist in cattle tick eradication.

"Second: In propagating a diversified agriculture based on the livestock industry.

"Third: To assist in the importation of better breeds of livestock.

"Fourth: To urge the organization, co-operation and co-ordination of the owners of idle lands in the State of North Carolina, similar to the movement effected heretofore in the states of Florida and Georgia.

"Fifth: To make this a permanent annual exposition and conference to be held at Wilmington."

"I Can Sell Almost Any Make of Tire Once"—but this town is not big enough in which to do business on the ONE SALE ONLY basis.

I must sell tires again and again to the same people.

On this principle my business has grown because I sell a tire that cuts down upkeep to a fair and reasonable figure.

People ask how far will this tire run? I tell them we rarely see a Diamond that won't go five thousand miles. Yet Diamonds are PRICED on a basis of only three thousand five hundred miles.

There is no "velvet" in the price, but plenty of "velvet" in Diamond mileage.

We carry a complete line of sizes in stock and can fill your tire wants immediately. If you can't come, telephone.

Every Diamond Tire must deliver full value in service. If ever a Diamond Tire fails, a cheerful, willing adjustment will be promptly made.

GHASTLY SCENES MARK SOMME BATTLEGROUND

Mangled Bodies of Men Lie Strewn
in Trenches and Mud

Death and Desolation Wrought by the British Guns May Now Be Fully Seen, Since Artillery No Longer Plays Over the Field.

From a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press, British Headquarters, in France, March 29 (via London).—Now that the desperate episodes in war, known in history as the battles of the Somme, have been definitely ended by the German retreat from Arras to the Aisne, it has been possible for one leisurely to investigate the conditions which existed along the German front just prior to the backward swing to the so-called Hindenburg line.

When the retreat first began more than a month ago, the British swept over some old Somme positions held by the Germans, and even the most hurried glimpses of the evacuated trenches indicated how untenable they had become and why it was decided to run no risks of another allied offensive in this sector. Five miles of sloping along the old German lines in the vicinity of Bapaume today revealed a picture of ghastliness which may never be seen again in this or any other war. The front line was a long, open, dilapidated, crumbling grave, which disappeared in the mud at times, but could be picked up further on by means of the bodies that marked the way.

One realized with a shudder how the men doomed to live in these trenches had been plagued by their own dead. Such a ceremony as decent burial had been wholly out of the question and there was no means of conveying the bodies to the rear. It had been like passing through a fiery rain from Hades to bring up food and water to the living. So the dead had simply been tossed out of the trenches, only to be blown back again by an exploding shell. Sometimes they came back in fragments, for there were arms and legs, feet and hands everywhere.

Occasionally graves had been dug in the sides of the trench itself, but the dead could not be buried there. At frequent intervals the inevitable skeleton hands and feet protruded from the trench walls.

Grim sights this war has had for the men who passed up and down those trenches during the long and bitter nights of winter. It has been an enthralling thing to stand by the British guns in the last three or four months and wonder what was the meaning of their continuous roar. There was no set battle in progress and the gunners said it was merely the "daily hate" going on to keep Fritz unhappy. The hideous revelations of the German trenches, however, gives the gruesome answer to what the guns were doing. In some places there were veritable mangled masses of what were once human beings. Neither by day nor by night had the Germans rest. Their trusted barbed wire, in which they always placed such great reliance, had been swept completely away over thousands of yards, and they dared not venture out to repair it.

All trace of communicating trenches leading to the front lines were wiped out and it had been necessary to bring up supplies and relief at night over a country blown into endless shell holes, many of which were filled to such a depth with water that men were drowned in them. White bits of broad tape could be seen here and there attached to the iron posts. These were for the purpose of guiding the men up to the front line. These pathways over the fields of death also were strewn with fragments of human bodies. Some of the dead had the looks of mummies. One of the fallen soldiers had his right arm thrown over his rifle as if his last impulse was to protect this weapon of defence. But there was no defence against the constant shelling. Some pieces of metal thrown about by the high explosive shells must have weighed at least ten pounds; the result of hitting a man with a ten pound bullet can easily be imagined.

At one point in the trenches was just the lower half of a German officer, identified by the boots and leggings he wore. His legs were crossed tailor-fashion. Trench helmets of heavy steel had great holes torn in them.

The front line, of course, was seamed with the inevitable deep German dug-outs, but even these had not been immune. There were hundreds of direct hits on top of them which must have made life intensely miserable and hazardous within. Around the famous Butte de Warlencourt, the German trenches have entirely disappeared. The entire fury of the Somme fighting once swirled about this somewhat insignificant mound of powdered chalk, just off the Bapaume road, which is generally believed to have been a pre-historic tomb. The butte now marks the death place not only of one supposedly distinguished pre-historic man, but thousands of young warriors.

The geographical plainness of the Butte de Warlencourt really emphasizes the wonderful importance of any high bit of ground in stationary warfare.

The Somme battlefields today appear like some great refuse dump. Litter is strewn everywhere. The evacuated German back areas remind one strikingly of the scenes around a deserted mining camp, in which the gold veins have given out.

THE WILMINGTON STAR CO.

FRIDAY, MARCH 30, 1917.

TOP OF THE MORNING.

If you want to be discouraged,
look within; if you want to be distracted, look about; but if you want to be satisfied, look up.
—MOODY

Everybody's knocking old Nick, but he is not the same one that Billy Sunday is chasing on a hot trail.

The Chicago News says it is strange
why a boob pines for a girl, but it's all explained after a young chap has cedar.

The Vampire of Europe is a very entertaining book, but none of the nations of Europe will admit that it is the vampire.

"Turn the other cheek?" Huh! We have run out of cheeks. Both have been used up, and that's what we call the limit.

A young man with a pretty good military training is liable to become a general if we are to train 3,000,000 men
for service.

A poem written by the Mikado of Japan is criticised in such a manner that we infer he did not mikado much when he wrote it.

Too much thought is wasted on dress
at a time when dresses are higher than usual. The height of dresses is about the same as the price.

The French and British go right on capturing villages, but reports state that the name of each village is about all that was left of them.

Ex-Czar Nicholas is given credit for being worth $2,000,000,000, but London dispatches indicate that his nibs wasn't worth 50 cents to the Allies.

The fact that General von Mackensen has gone to Constantinople to reorganize the Turkish army leads us to infer that the Turkish army needs it.

The Charleston News and Courier inquires: "What's become of Tom Lawson?" It seems that he is quiescent in the solemn depths of infamous desue-tude.

Without attempting to be humorous,
some good brother wrote a long piece
a few days ago about "the brotherhood of man." Just at this time, men are chasing each other with "the spear that knows no brother," and cares very little about his sister.

The Charleston Post inquires, "Why do Charleston people insist on coming to the theatres or recital halls about half an hour late?" We can guess, but we have too many lady friends in Charleston to venture a word that would cause them to pout.

Colonel Bryan says this country should not go to war. Of course, he ought to know that this country doesn't have to go to war, for the simple reason that war has come to it. It seems that this country either has to welcome war on it or do something by way of resenting war.

A fellow who got into a Pacific meeting in New York Saturday night emerged with his face beat into a pulp, his derby smashed in and his clothes mussed up as if he had negotiated a barbed wire fence. He disturbed the pacifists and talked out as if they were too proud to fight.

Since we are about to get into war,
we now realize that the Republicans can make us look like 30 cents, if we let them beat us to the front. Republicans and Democrats make disagreeable citizens but they get chummy
when they decide that Uncle Sam has to lick somebody or other.

Republican Leader Mann states that rather than make a contest over the Speaker'ship look scandalous at this time, he would withdraw as a candidate if it was agreeable to his Brother Republicans. Our old friend Mann must have heard about the arrangements
to re-elect our old friend Champ Clark.

CLAMOR IS SENSELESS

The hysterical clamor dimmed into the ears of the Administration at Washington at this time is about as senseless
as that with which the country was regaled for political reasons during the last four years. Of clamor, however, there is always a plenty in this country as well as in others. Some of it may be justifiable but that is by no means true simply because there is clamor. Clamor has to be considered on its merits and we know a lot of it that has none. It has to be investigated so it can be ascertained whether there is anything in it or not.

On the eve of war for this country,
strenuous and more or less gifted critics are giving President Wilson a great deal of advice as to the course
he should pursue in order to carry on war with Germany, since hostilities appear to be inevitable. The President is advised that he can't carry on a war with such a Secretary of the Navy as Mr. Daniels and such a Secretary of War as Mr. Baker. It is quite likely that President Wilson knows more about it than his advisers, for they don't know what manner of a war Secretaries Daniels and Baker may conduct.

These gentlemen have never had any war experience and very few others have had any for that matter. They may make a failure of it, but nobody will know till they are tried. They are just as apt as anybody else to make great war secretaries, since the country is not assured that their critics know any better how to pick out war secretaries than President Wilson. If we have war, however, we will soon
know what Secretaries Baker and Daniels can do, and then it will be time to swap horses, as the necessities or conditions demand. They may not demand any change at all, so it would be a senseless thing to put in new secretaries who probably wouldn't know half as much as Secretaries Baker and Daniels. We don't know what kind of warriors they will make and none of us will know till they are given a chance.

For various reasons, critics have butted in to advise President Wilson to change his whole cabinet and wipe the slate clean. That is merely their idea and that may not be worth shucks. If there are any reasons why there should be any changes in the cabinet, President Wilson knows it better than anybody else, so the Baltimore Sun takes
the correct view when it says:

"President Wilson is receiving a great deal of advice concerning his cabinet
these days, and in some quarters the suggestion is made that he wipe the slate clean and rewrite it. Others urge the removal of individual members and the substitution in their places of certain eminent gentlemen. Secretary Daniels is bearing the brunt of the fire of the critics, with Secretary Baker close behind him and Secretaries Mc-Adoo and Redfield and Wilson in range.
Of all the members of the cabinet, Secretary Lane and Secretary Houston
seem to have escaped criticism entirely.

"With the truth of the charges is and which members, if any, should be replaced are difficult questions to answer.
It should be remembered that all way cabinets have been hardly criticised with or without good reasons. Gideon Welles, now generally acknowledged to be probably the greatest Secretary of the Navy the country has known, was assailed in 1861, we mention in the same way that Josephus Daniels is being assailed now. On the other hand, Secretary Alger doubtless deserved all or most of the criticism leveled against him. Much of the criticism of Mr. Daniels is manifestly unfair. His likelihoods, which served as the basis of much ill-natured satire, are now accepted as wise and necessary. His various efforts in behalf of the enlisted men have been productive of good.
The percentage of re-enlistments under his administration is greater than ever before. It is one thing to say that he is the best available man for the position, and certainly the best available man should be the head of the navy in these days. Yet one of the most competent of the Washington correspondents said the other day that Mr. Daniels has got the machinery of the department working so smoothly
that the substitution of another man at this time would almost certainly work disastrously. This is to be considered.

"Mr. Baker made an able mayor of Cleveland; he has not yet proved himself an able Secretary of War. Mr. Mc-Adoo has gained the enmity of certain important financiers; he has shown himself energetic and capable in several directions. And so on through the list. To estimate justly the value of each cabinet official and the prospect of an improvement being effected by a change would require a detailed knowledge of what has been going on in the various departments during the last four years, and very few people have that knowledge. The President himself is probably better informed than anyone else. And whether it wishes to or not the Nation must trust him to remedy any defects in his official household. He alone has the power and authority to do so."

The Sun adds that the one thing essential is that the brains of the country must be utilized for its defense.
The Truth is, war will make that necessary, and if the cabinet is not equal to the task it is quite likely it will be changed several times if necessary.
Nevertheless, the present clamor indicates nothing but clamor. It does not matter who goes into the cabinet in war times, its members hear just such clamor as is being heard now.

NO TURNING BACK

The successful live stock conference and exposition held in Wilmington on Wednesday and Thursday of this week
has emphasized another potential addition to farm industry in North Carolina. The visitors here have seen as fine cattle and hogs as can be raised anywhere in America—splendid dairy cattle from fine herds belonging to Wilmington dairymen and the State test
farm, and beef cattle brought here by North Carolina exhibitors to show what can be done in this section in the production of the best grades of meat animals. Some of these specimens weigh as high as 2,000 pounds each, while some of the hogs on display from North and South Carolina farms weighed more than 1,000 pounds.

This shows what can be done in North Carolina, but possibly the best feature of the two days' event were
the splendid addresses embracing expert knowledge on all known methods
for carrying on a successful live stock industry. No feature in that respect was overlooked, and from every point of view the livestock conference and exposition was a success.

The aim, of course, is to promote a great live stock industry in North Carolina. There is no turning back from that purpose and the good work must go on more vigorously than ever. Enterprising farmers of Eastern North Carolina have shown keen interest in the movement, and the seed for the success of that movement have been sown in rich soil. There is the utmost confidence in the movement, and Wilmington's two packing houses and a modern creamery establishment plainly indicate that the industry must become a certainty. It can be made so.

The creamery and packing establishments here are bound to attract stock raisers and dairymen to North Carolina, besides giving our own farmers a new opportunity of which they are sure to avail themselves. That is the result wherever stockyards and dairy markets
have been established.

Orangeburg, S. C., having organized a packing house last year, to be ready for operation this fall, is already attracting opportunity seekers to the Or-angeburg territory. Not only are stock raisers being drawn from other states,
but some of the live farmers from other counties in the State are buying lands near Orangeburg. The Charleston News and Courier publishes news to the effect that Mr. R. M. Lucas, of Mc-Coll, S. C., has bought a 700-acre farm in Orangeburg county in order to raise cattle and hogs for the Orangeburg packing plant. The Orangeburg chamber of commerce is vigorously handling the matter of securing new settlers in the Orangeburg territory, and many have already been located in the counties within easy reach of the Orangeburg plant.

Packing houses always clinch the argument for adaptable livestock territory, and since Wilmington not only will have two packing houses but a modern creamery, it ought to give us a good pull for settling up the idle lands of Eastern North Carolina. We have started right and there is no turning back from a good thing.

A NEW WAY TO KEEP MONEY AT HOME.

In view of the warlike aspect of the times, each community is considering the wisdom of keeping all its money at home. People who are trading in other cities and sending their money away from home are beginning to realize that if war should bring on a collapse
they would suffer along with their moneyless community. That is another serious thing to reflect about in the face of what Congress is liable to do next Monday in the matter of declaring that a state of war exists between this country and Germany.

In addition to the urgency of farm production of food supplies, vacant lot gardening and all the conservation plans that will help a community in the event of war and harder times, the Columbia paper lays stress on keeping every dollar at home. This is a wise precaution. The Record suggests a plan by which Columbia can save $100,- 000 this summer. That is by having a stay-at-home summer instead of following the custom of many families who go to the mountains for three or four months of the summer.

Saving $100,000 on vacation expenses
would be equal to a pay roll of like amount, so the Record says: "Let us have a stay-at-home summer and keep the Columbia merchants smiling, the Columbia merchants who pay taxes, and are always on the job in Columbia, and any way Columbia is a blooming sight
more comfortable place."

It must be admitted that the vacation custom does make it dull for a city's merchants from June to September. In that respect Wrightsville Beach and Carolina Beach keep thousands of dollars at home. Besides that, people from the interior come here and save thousands of dollars on their leisure.

SOUTHERN NEGROES ARE LOYAL.

It is quite possible for some foolhardy person to come along and talk disloyalty to a few colored people but it is all nonsense to suppose that any number of them could even be approached for an intrigue that could be taken seriously. Southern negro Americans would give them away and expose any such efforts.

The colored citizens of Wilmington
put themselves on record a few days ago and the resolution they adopted plainly indicates what we have known all along. If all of us were as sure of our loyalty to the flag as the negroes
of the South we would be true blue Americans for sure. In the eyes of Southern negro Americans "Uncle Sam" always has been the greatest thing on earth and they have never failed to fight for him from the day that a negro youth saved Col. William Washington's life during the Revolutionary war down to the Spanish American war. An Atlanta dispatch says the Georgia negroes are aflame with patriotism. Hundreds of Atlanta negroes are ready to enlist if this country is going to war, and if Uncle Sam needs
a couple of negro regiments from North Carolina he can easily get them.
At a meeting of the leading colored citizens of Atlanta a few days ago, they put themselves on record in this way:

"While in chains we fought in the Revolutionary war to free our masters from the yoke of England's tyranny, and when the struggle was over returned again to slavery. We have a record to defend, no treason, thank God, to atone or explain. No negro has ever insulted the flag. No negro has ever struck down a president of the United States. No negro has ever sold a military map or a government secret to a foreign power. No negro has ever run under fire. Accuse us of what you will, sometimes justly and sometimes wrongly, but no man can point to a single instance of disloyalty to the land that finally made us free."

Anybody who knows the negro and wants to do justice to him, is fully aware that the Atlanta statement just quoted is the sentiment of the colored people of every State in the South.

TO THE ENGINEERS

Welcome back to your old home, boys.
Back to even ones dear.
It does us all good to welcome you,
And give you a heart felt cheer.

You gave up home and pleasure, boys.
When for Old Glory you took your stand.
You showed us all what Wilmington boys
could do.
When you went down by the Rio Grande.

You have served your country faithfully.
When in her time of need,
You answered the call, like the men
you are,
The dangers you did not heed.

So here's to the boys, we are proud of you.
The boys who went away.
To answer the call of the Stars and Stripes.
Here's to the Engineers Company A.
—R. M. KERMON.

Proposed Gift to the Government.

To the Editor of the Star:
Noticing that a movement is on foot
by the good people of Charleston, S. C., to procure an aeroplane and present it to the Government, I am going to suggest, in order not to allow our sister city get ahead of us, that the stockholders of our local American Aero-plane Company make gift to the Government of our plant, fixtures and incomplete aeroplane. I, for one, am willing to assign to assign my shares of stock in the company gratis. What say you, stockholders?

PAUL D. SATCHWELL,
Wilmington, N. C., March 29th, 1917.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Those who talk of an "independent war" against Germany, arguing that for the United States to enter upon any other would be for the country to disregard the principles of the warring against "entangling alliances," not only ignore all the logic of the situation, but absolutely fail to make a distinction which ought to be so plain as hardly to require pointing out. The "entangling alliances" had in view by General Washington were political alliances, which,
if and when entered into, would embroider the United States in European politics and obligate the country to take a hand in the general shaping of European policies. The alliances, and the only alliance, that would be entered by our joining hands with the Entente Powers in whipping Germany to heel would be a purely military alliance, having for its purpose the accomplishment of a specific object and which would automatically end with the effectuation of that object. Between the two there is not only a wide distinction, but the greatest possible difference. The former ought to be as carefully avoided
now and in the future as has been the case in the past; the latter offers a safe and sure course in conditions with which the country is presently confronted.—Norfolk, Virginia Pilot.

"Communities which desire to make progress in industrial and agricultural life, in any really constructive undertaking should not hold off on account of the possibilities of war,"
says the Wilmington Star. "There would be enough war to warrant cold feet on real progress of any description. In fact, war will create an enormous demand, and, even if it should last a few years, the city, the county,
or the section that is ready to do business when it ends will profit because of its own preparedness. Panic frights and war frights hold people back and scare them off from making investments and going ahead with their enterprises. That is what makes it dull. Fructification and enterprise cease because people get scared and quit.
They merely lose time. The man who waits on wind and tide will get left."
He seems a bold prophet who undertakes to predict how "much of war"
there is in the mind of a man. It has to be a long one and a terrible one indeed before there is any reason for "cold feet." Nevertheless there have been cold feet, and there are cold feet.
Only, one prefers to believe, and it seems most probable, because of nervousness. If business falls into a semi-panic when war is definitely and finally on, then business is a coward, and the public is cowardly. It is well known that the public in a mass is not courageous, and in especial that the American people have never lacked courage when confronting any serious danger the nature of which was clearly seen. There have been, it is true, panics in time of peace, and they have resulted disastrously, for the time being; but they were the result of anxieties that could not be definitely described, of vague uneasiness, of mystery which destroyed confidence. This is definitely prolonged threat of imminent
war with a great and powerful nation might produce a nervous reaction that would put business out of business;
war itself will be quite another matter.
The spirit of the people of the public may be expected to produce a tonic
effect on business, and there are material factors in a great preparation for war that immensely stimulate commerce. War should not interfere with business, or ordinarily has not done so in America; but the business of building good roads should not halt
for a moment.—Greensboro News.

ALUMNI LOYALTY FUND GROWS

Students Responding to Invitation of Council to Contribute (Special Staff Correspondence).

Chapel Hill, March 29.—Showing the same spirit of liberality and tangible appreciation of the University's service that the Legislature recently manifested in its educational appropriations,
the student body has given an eager response to the invitation of the Greater Council to have every student contribute to the Alumni Loyalty Fund.
The idea of the council in extending this opportunity to the students is not only to stimulate alumni by their example but to allow every student to give a concrete evidence of his desire to have a direct share in the increasing usefulness and greatness of the University.

The Alumni Loyalty Fund originated with the class of 1905 which presented it with $1,000. Today the fund has almost reached the $5,000 mark.

COMMUNITY GARDENING HAS GOOD HOLD ON KINSTON

Kinston, N. C., March 29.—The Chamber of Commerce here is answering numerous inquiries as to the success of Kinston's community gardening movement. Secretary Lewis, replying to letters from surrounding towns today, stated that "if nature does not lie down on the job big benefits will be reaped in the summer." An organization had been planned in February, but so general was the response to well-directed propaganda by the trade body, the education officials and extension service agents that this was not necessary. Officials say they never saw such a response to any suggestion here before. The total space planted is at least a third larger than last year.

"Buy In Wilmington and Watch Wilmington Grow"

A Country Prospers as Does Its People.

A City Grows as Does Its Industries.

If all the mail order shopping was done in Wilmington every merchant in this city would increase the size of his store fifty per cent; could sell his goods for ten per cent less;
would give employment to twenty per cent more salesmen and salesladies; would pay fifty per cent more taxes to the city, county and State, and could carry larger stocks and greater variety.

If all the mail order shopping was done in Wilmington every bank in the city could build a skyscraper rivaling the United States Treasury building and send a golden stream of wealth coursing through the commercial arteries of our city.

If all the mail order shopping was done in Wilmington every street in the city could be paved; every school could be doubled in size and conveniences; every unsightly shack in the business district would be replaced by handsome business blocks to accommodate the ever increasing demand for Wilmington merchandise.

Awaken from your "sommambulistic meanderings" along the road that leads to Nowhere and help Wilmington to occupy a place on the map as a commercial centre.

Easter and "Dress-Up Week" is here. See what the Wilmington stores have to offer you first.

Respectfully.

The Merchants of Your City.

WILMINGTON CONTINUES TO MAKE FINE SHOWING

Was Third in Inter-City Membership Contest Last Night

Y. M. C. A. Workers Had Enthusiastic Meeting at Luncheon Yesterday—Gen. E. Elliott Brought Inspiring Message.

Wilmington landed third in rank on the second day of the Y. M. C. A. Inter-City membership contest, while Charlotte got first place and Columbia retained a firm hold on the second place. The local workers are enthusiastic and expect to make a fine showing all along. Hope runs high that they may bring the silver loving cup here for a year.

The workers held an enthusiastic meeting at the luncheon, which was served yesterday at 1:15 by the charming young women of the Christian Endeavor Society, who were extended a rising vote of thanks for their generous and inspiring example in helping along in this way in the membership campaign.

George E. Elliott, Esq., general counsel for the Atlantic Coast Line, brought a helpful message to the young men, pointing out how in this day there is increasing interest in the other fellow. Couched in simple words his address was a forceful earnest plea for upright living, manly and Christian fellowship and above all devotion to the best things of life.

Editor James H. Cowan, of the Wilmington Dispatch, chairman of the membership committee, was toastmaster, and with ringing words of good cheer, he congratulated the workers upon the splendid showing made on the first day and bade them press on with vigor and increasing energy. Mr. F. Duvall gave some valuable suggestions for getting members, explaining that this is a matter to be studied like anything else. From the way he goes out for members, those present were impressed that he spoke words of sound wisdom.

Commodore Howes' Intrepid Navy division of boys "copped" the pennant with a total of 170 just when it seemed that Capt. Sullivan's strong men's team would get it with a total of 163 points. Capt. Myers' team had won the pennant on the first day and made a fine showing yesterday. The city division reported a total of 532 points while the Coast Line division reported a total of 49.

The total number of points reported for the two days follows:

A. C. L.—Capt. Gallagher, 51; Capt. Willis, 50; Capt. Wilder, 22; Commodore Bryan's boys' division, 51.
City—Capt. Sullivan, 22; Capt. Pickard, 77; Capt. Davis, 22; Capt. Myers, 205; Commodore Howes' boys' division, 103.
The standing of the different cities in the contest last night was as follows:
Charlotte.....1,318
Columbia.....1,157
Wilmington.....843
Jacksonville.....202
Augusta.....100
Charleston.....132

Attorneys Before Judge Connor in $100,000 Salvage Suits Here.

Arguments in the case of the Fisheries Products Company against the Italian steamer Edillo, in which the libellants are seeking to recover salvage in the vessel, $100,000, were heard yesterday by Judge H. G. Connor, of the United States District Court. After the conclusion of the arguments today, Judge Connor will examine the mass of evidence in the case and will render his decision later.

The Fisheries Products Company is represented by Hon. George Rountree and Thomas W. Davis Esq., and Robert Runk and E. K. Bryan, Esq., are counsel for the vessel. Much time was consumed at the fall term of the Federal Court in taking the evidence in the case.

The Fisheries Products Company claims that the vessel was chartered by the concerned times and pulled the Edillo off the bar when she went aground on Cape Fear some time ago. Owners of the Edillo deny that any material assistance was rendered by the fishing vessel. Judge Connor stopped over in Wilmington yesterday en route to home at Wilson after having presided at a term of Federal Court at Laurinburg. District Attorney J. Carr also returned to Wilmington yesterday. Judge Connor will go to his home today.

MAYOR MOORE STARTS HIS CAMPAIGN IN REAL EARNEST

Delivered Striking Address To Voters At Front and Wright Streets.

Mayor Parker Quince Moore opened his campaign for re-election Wednesday night with an eloquent address to the voters at Front and Wright streets. The meeting was not advertised but there were between 75 and one hundred men present. The Mayor defended his record and promised his continued best efforts to serve the city and its people, if again elected.

The campaign promises to be taken up in real earnest next week and it is not improbable that there will be a lot of speechmaking. In the language of all the other cities and towns in North Carolina, the political pot may be said to have begun to boil.

SCHOOL DEBATE TONIGHT

Wilmington Will Meet Goldsboro in Clash Of Words On Live Topic—The Public Is Invited.

CAVALRY TROOP IS NOW A CERTAINTY

Over 40 Men Enlisted for Service at Mass Meeting

Brief Speeches Made by Capt. Gillett, Capt. Lynch, Lieut. McBrayer and Mr. Foy—Another Meeting to be Called.

Forty red-blooded and patriotic young Americans signified their intention of becoming members of the proposed cavalry troop in Wilmington at a meeting held in the court house last night, by signing the enlistment blanks. A number of others expressed a desire to talk the matter over with their parents and employers and will probably join the troop later.

Capt. E. A. Metts, who presided at the meeting, announced that he would take the matter up with the Adjutant General and would call another meeting, probably Monday night, at which time complete arrangements would be made for the organization of the troop.

The court house was packed when Captain Metts arose last night to explain the purpose of the meeting. He pointed out that permission had been granted by the War Department to organize a cavalry troop in Wilmington, and called attention to the fact that war was practically inevitable.

Brief speeches along the different lines of army work were made by Capt. George Gillette, of the Wilmington Engineers; Capt. James B. Lynch, of the Second Company of the Coast Artillery; Mr. H. B. Foy, formerly of the Georgia Hussars, and Lieut. McBrayer, of the Medical Corps.

Each were of the opinion that war would surely be declared when Congress meets next Monday, and each was firm in his opinion that no young man would make a mistake by enlisting now. The audience responded with cheers to each of the talks.

Captain Metts called attention to the fact that for every regiment sent out of the State for duty, a reserve battalion would be organized for instruction, and that in event it could not be sustained at its normal strength that men would be drafted for the service.

Those signing the enlistment papers last night were given the oath by Lieut. Metts, and Foy, of the Wilmington Light Infantry.

MAYOR ASKS CITIZENS TO CONSERVE FOOD PRODUCTS

Issues Proclamation Urging Utilization of Spare Ground This Year.

In order to impress upon the people of Wilmington and New Hanover county the urgent need and importance of conserving food products and utilizing all spare ground by planting it in feed crops, Mayor P. Q. Moore has issued a proclamation calling attention to these matters. Mayor Moore says in the proclamation that the excessive cost of provisions, particularly of the staple kind, can be much reduced, each for himself, if everyone, with a little space to cultivate, will make an effort to induce the ground, now in weeds and grass to yield some increase of value in sustaining life.

"To the People of Wilmington: "It is my pleasure to supplement the wise and urgent appeal made by the Governor of the State, asking that the dwellers in both city and country make every effort to increase the production of food stuffs in the home, and to plant of food and feed crops, in the country, and by the utilization in towns and cities of all spare ground for the same purpose. I wish to impress upon the people of this community the strong sense of duty and responsibility that they should, with a little space to cultivate, will make an effort to induce the ground, now in weeds and grass, yield some increase of value in sustaining life. This is work which you of our young people would do with pleasure and health in doing. Let everyone who can, and very few cannot, take up this work, and much of the privation now existing and liable to grow greater, will be averted. The Governor says truly and forcefully: The times are troublous. No man can say what an hour may bring forth, but if we shall act with prudence and diligence the 'meal' will waste not nor the crust of oil. What a good sense—economically and scripturally, sound doctrine.

ENGINEERS TO RESUME WORK

Company Begins Drilling Again in Few Days—Equipment Will be Checked Up.

Company A, North Carolina Engineers, will today buckle down to real hard work such as they were engaged in before they left the border, according to a statement made by Capt. George W. Gillette, commander of the company, last night.

Today will be spent in checking up the arms and equipment and when this is completed the regular engineering drills will be resumed. The members of the company are practically convinced that they will soon be called into active service again, and intend to lose no time about better preparing themselves for any emergency.

The company is quartered in the building formerly occupied by the North State Candy Co., at the foot of Hanover street. This building is especially adapted for use as an armory, and contains ample accommodations for the soldiers. The supplies and equipment are stored on the lower floor while the men have their sleeping quarters on the second and third floors. A guard is maintained at night, one sentinel being on duty at all times between retreat and sun rise.

Not the least interesting part of the company's belongings is a baby donkey about three weeks old that was brought back from the border by one of the men. This little Mexican is about the size of a large dog, and very gentle. He nurses from a bottle with gusto and shows no signs of illness at his change in abode.

CHILDREN OF HEMENWAY SCHOOL PLAN TO GROW MODEL GARDEN

Will Be Pioneers in This Movement in Wilmington.

Should the grim God of War spread his wings over Wilmington he will not find the students, at the Hemenway school unprepared. Under the efficient direction of Principal J. Shepard Bryant, the students of this school have planted many model gardens and will get first hand instruction in the elementary forms of agriculture.

In this matter they are pioneers among the school children of Wilmington, and have set a good example for the other schools to follow. Following are the statistics of this educational venture in amateur farming:

Amount of money spent for seeds by Hemenway children, $35.75; number of different children buying seeds, 196; number of children planting seeds at home, 204; number of Hemenway children who are growing seeds elsewhere, 10; number of Hemenway children who are working a garden, 23; number of Hemenway children preparing to work a garden, 145; number of Hemenway children who have studied gardening, 95; number of vacant lots for seed available for planting by children of the Hemenway school, 23.

The vacant lots have been turned in at the office, their location and size, and can be no doubt, readily secured.

MEETING MONDAY NIGHT TO RE-ORGANIZE BOYS' BRIGADE

Will Offer Their Services to Uncle Sam in the Event of War.

In keeping with the spirit of patriotism which is sweeping the country at this time, arousing all military organizations to action, the members of the Boys' Brigade are taking steps to offer their services to Uncle Sam in the event of hostilities and all members are requested to meet at the armory at Second and Church streets next Monday night at 8 o'clock for the purpose of beginning active preparations to be ready should the call to arms come. The call has been sent out by Captains J. J. Loughlin and W. R. Doshier and every member and all their friends who are interested are urged to be on hand.

It is proposed to organize an infantry company at the meeting and as there are about 100 members of the organization who have had previous military training, it is expected that the Boys' Brigade will begin Monday night under auspicious conditions. The Adjutant General of the North Carolina National Guard has been asked for equipment in order to have the company thoroughly prepared. The Brigade has had regular military training under State Guard regulations, including encampments.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Well-Known Local Druggist Says Everybody is Using Old-Time Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value their even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

FRECKLES

March Worst Month for This Trouble—How to Remove Easily.

There's a reason why nearly everybody freckles in March, but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of othine, double strength, from your druggist and apply a little of it night and morning, and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they may stay all summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if othine fails.

HOPE TO ORGANIZE NAVAL MILITIA DIVISION HERE

Leading Business Men Wish to Call Meeting For This Purpose.

Messrs. W. M. Atkinson and H. M. Chase, both of whom were officers in the former Wilmington Naval Reserves, and other citizens are anxious to call a meeting this week for the purpose of taking steps to organize a division of Naval Reserves in Wilmington, as officers of the North Carolina Naval Militia are anxious that this be done.

Both of these gentlemen have received letters urging that a division be organized here but the chief difficulty seems to lie in the inability to obtain proper men to qualify as officers. Any one interested in the proposition are urged to communicate with Mr. Atkinson immediately. BUNCOMBE COLONIAL DAMES RAISE AMBULANCE FUND
Members of the North Carolina Society of the Colonial Dames in Buncombe county, through Mrs. Thomas Settle, have made possible the purchase of the ambulance "Asheville" for the service of the American Ambulance Corps "somewhere in France," and the ambulance will soon be dispatched to the front.

This movement to raise funds for the ambulance was started by the Buncombe county committee of Colonial Dames, headed by Mrs. Settle, as an exhibition of American ambulance pictures at Grove Park Inn. More than $500 was raised then and the sum was increased by a card party at the Manor, and subscriptions were received at a recent Red Cross meeting at Masonic Temple and from private sources.

Dr. Francis F. Boyer, in a letter to the Asheville Citizen, acknowledges gratefully the efforts of the Asheville people, saying:
"As a member of the American Ambulance Corps I desire to express my personal gratitude to the people of Asheville who so generously have given to this cause. The purpose is such a tangible one and appeals to all and I am sure that we all shall feel a tremendous pride in the knowledge that an ambulance named 'Asheville' is playing its trade of mercy on the battle field of France, and repaying in some way the debt of this country, to the compatriots of Lafayette and Rochambeau."

JONES-DAUGHTRIDGE WEDDING
AT ROCKY MOUNT BRILLIANT
Rocky Mount, N. C., March 29.—A brilliant wedding of statewide interest was solemnized in the Methodist church here Tuesday night, when Miss Clyde Daughtridge, daughter of ex-Lieutenant Governor and Mrs. E. L. Daughtridge, became the bride of Mr. Millard Franklin Jones.

The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. C. Craven, and was beautiful and impressive. The church was artistically decorated for the occasion, the entire chancel being banked with Easter lilies, bride roses and pink Killarney roses, while Southern amilax gracefully entwined the altar rail. The altar candles were of pink and blue and their mellow rays told a fitting scene for the ceremony which followed.

Miss Alice Wynne at the organ rendered several selections and preceding the entrance of the bridal party Mrs. L. W. Kornegay sang "That Little Key to the Heart" by Elman. Then came the bridal party. First to enter was Miss Shields Jones, sister of the groom, with Mr. J. W. Hines, Jr. Miss Clea Wynne with Mr. J. J. Mackay, Jr. of Raleigh; Miss Sue Long of Roxboro, N. C. with Mr. J. C. Daughtridge, and Miss Margaret Newell with Dr. J. C. Braswell, Jr. The bridesmaids were gowned alike in pink tulle dresses, over pink silver cloth, with tulle of blue. They wore pink hats and carried pink Killarney roses. Then came the maid of honor, Miss Mary Will Daughtridge, the younger sister of the bride, charming in her gown of blue tulle over blue silver cloth, with blue hat. She also carried pink Killarney roses.

Little Lillian and Emily Braswell, daintily attired in white, entered together, bearing baskets of pink roses, scattering their petals along the path way of the bride, Maurice Daughtridge, Jr., the bride's young nephew, bore the ring in the heart of an Easter lily. To the notes of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, the bride and groom entered with her father. Her loveliness was enhanced by the handsome wedding gown of ivory brocade satin en train. Her veil was caught with a coronet of pearls and orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies. The groom then entered with his best man, Dr. H. Page Mauck, of Richmond. After the vows were spoken, the party left the church to the notes of Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The ushers were Messrs. J. D. Odum, P. B. Doub, Hugh A. Willford and Fitzhugh C. Lafferty of Richmond.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 809 Tarboro street. Receiving the guests at the front door were Dr. and Mrs. C. F. Smithson and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Daughtridge. They were then greeted by Mrs. Susan P. Jones, who passed them into the drawing room, where they were received by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Daughtridge, Mr. and Mrs. Millard F. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Braswell, and the members of the bridal party.

Mrs. Arnall and Mrs. Nicholas of Richmond and Mr. P. B. Doub were stationed at the dining room doors and invited the guests to enter. This room presented a scene of rare loveliness. The table, covered with cloth of exquisite hand made lace, bore a huge basket filled with Easter lilies and pink Killarney roses, and the soft glow of myriad candles added to the charm of the scene. In the ice course, which was served by Misses Julia Edwards, Nanette Daughtridge, Maggie May and Mary Alta Robbins, and Helene Jeffreys, the color scheme of pink and white was effectively carried out. Leading from the dining room into the rear hall Mesdames L. D. Bulluck and Mason and Miss Kate Redmond directed the guests to the punch bowl which was graciously presided over by Misses Annie May Odum, Emily Joyner, Minnie Hart and Julia Daughtridge.

Mr. and Mrs. M. P. J. Williams and Miss Emma Mallette, of Tarboro, received in the library, where the magnificent array of gifts were displayed. During the evening about 350 guests called to extend felicitations to the happy young couple, who left on a north-bound train for New York and other points north. After their return they will be at home with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Daughtridge, on Tarboro street.

Out of town guests here to attend the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Jones, Miss Shields Jones, Mrs. C. L. Arnall, Mrs. F. H. Nichols, Col. T. H. R. Roadams, Mr. G. Jeter Jones, Mr. R. H. Broadhurst, Dr. H. Page Mauck and B. D. Blandon of Richmond, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Galloway, Wilmington; J. J. Mackay, Jr., Raleigh; Mrs. M. Farmer, Miss Wilson, Miss Emma Mallette, Tarboro; Miss Annie May Odum, of Converse College, and Misses Willie Odum and Mary Ruth Divine, of St. Mary's College, Raleigh; Miss Sue Long, of Roxboro.

Mr. C. S. Royall, of Salem, N. C., was here yesterday for the industrial and live stock exposition.

Inter-Marriage of Races is Denounced

ASSERTS THAT LAST YEAR 17 PER CENT OF MARRIAGES IN MASSACHUSETTS WERE BETWEEN WHITES AND BLACKS.

Roxbury, Va., March 29.—The Rev. George Sexton, of Washington, D. C., strongly attacked the churches of Massachusetts for permitting the marriages of white persons to negroes in the morning address of the 13rd session of the Baltimore Conference, M. E. Church, South.

"I am for unification of Methodism all right, just so as I am not bound up with a certain set of folks where the records show that last year 17 per cent of the marriages were those in which negro men married white women or white men married negro women," said the Rev. Mr. Sexton. "I refer to the state of Massachusetts."

Practically the entire day was taken up with numerous reports and routine business.

The Rev. W. F. McMurray, of Louisville, Ky., delivered the anniversary address tonight.

Motoring
Wrestling
Tennis
Golf, Etc.ORIOLES BEAT W. L. I.
BY SCORE OF 18 TO 1But Soldiers Played Good Ball in All But Three InningsBaltimore Slabmen Were Too Much
For Local Batters and Orioles Practice Was a Big Factor—Rocky Mount Saturday.

The muffled drum's sad roll has been,
The soldier's last tattoo,
No more at Sunset Park shall meet,
That badly battered crew.
On diamond heroes' burial ground,
Their defeated forms are spread,
While the Orioles scored with 18 runs,
The bivouac of the dead.

Battling like fiends and holding ar-rantly, the Baltimore Orioles swamped the Wilmington Light Infantry outfit at Sunset Park yesterday afternoon by a score of—pardon us for mentioning it—18 to 1.

It was not such a bad game in spite of the score. The Soldiers played good ball in two and all of the Orioles falloes were made in three innings.
Young Horne, the port side whom the artillerymen started on the slab, tightened up after five singles and seven runs had been annexed off his delivery in the opening session. He went well until the fifth when the Orioles again started their big gun work, and then he gave way to Ed Boswell, a right hander, who finished the game.
Boswell likewise had one bad inning
and these three were sufficient to sound taps for the W. L. I. outfit.

Baltimore started right into scoring in the initial frame, successive singles
by Barber, Lamar and Russell after a walk to Truesdale, coupled with an error by Shepard and a triple by Truesdale netted seven runs.

Singles by Shannon, Blumiller, Lamar, Fewster and Bentley, and a double by McCoy cashed in five more in the fifth. The remaining runs were scored in the seventh on Horne's boot, a single by Truesdale, a base on balls to Shannon, a double by Russell, a triple by Bentley and error by Farmer and a stolen base by Bentley.

The locals only run came in the eighth inning when two singles and a stolen base sent one man across the plate.

All the Oriole slabmen did good work,
the Soldiers being unable to corral but three safeties off their delivery. With the exception of his two bad innings, Horne pitched good ball, considering the fact that neither he nor his teammates have had but little practice,
and that qve errors were made behind him.

Owing to the fact that the scorer smashed his adding machine, and in order to avoid overtaxing the Red Cross Society the full box score is slightly omitted. Here, however is a skeleton of how it went:

Soldiers 000 000 010—1 3 5
Orioles 700 050 602—18 27 0
Smith, Bat and Boswell; Lyons,
Shannon, Hargy and Williams and Mc-Avoy. Attendance scattering, casualties none.

A real ball game is promised the fans who journey to the park tomorrow when Ray Ryan brings his fighting Rocky Mount aggregation of the Virginia League down to try conclusions with the Orioles. This game will be called at 2:30 o'clock and it is to be hoped that a large gathering of fans will witness the game.

Following is the lineup of the Rocky Mounts: Henry, third; O'Neill, second; Sperless, left; O'Donnell, first;
Jenkins, short; Powell, catcher; Harris,
right; McElvaine, center; Stevenson,
third; Barron, pitcher; Ryan, wackch.

Yankees Even Up Series.

Dothan, Ala., March 29.—The New York Americans evened their series with the Boston Nationals here today
by winning the second game, 7 to 5.
With the score a tie in the 7th inning,
Pipp hit over the fence for a home run, scoring 2 runners ahead of him.
Baker and Kelly also hit home runs.

Senators Lose to Cincinnati.

Louisville, Ky., March 29.—A rally
in the late innings here today gave victory to the Cincinnati Nationals over the Washington Americans, 5 to 4.
Mulan, of Washington, featured the game with 3 hits out of 4 times at bat.

HANSON IS THE FAVORITE

Many Fans Expect Aberg to Win—One
of Most Exciting Bouts of Season Promised.

When Referee Louis Moore calls time
in Woolvin Hall tonight, two brawny specimens of manhood stripped to the waist will step into a squared circle to battle for one of the biggest purses ever hung up for a wrestling match in Wilmington.

In the northwest corner will crouch
Fritz Hanson, 155 pounds of Swedish muscle, skill and endurance, trained to the pink of perfection. On the southeastern edge of the mat will loom Ed Aberg, another 155 pounds of wrestling skill scattered over some 75 inches of sinewy frame. And—the pocket of the referee will be rolled 500 perfect good, negotiable dollars, 65 per cent of which will be stuffed into the jeans of the winner of the gladiators when he descends into Princess street following the final fall, according to the articles of agreement.

That much is certain. The only unknown quantity is this problem and one that hundreds of fans have been trying to find during the past week, is this:
"Which of the two men will carry the long end of the purse when they leave the ring?"

Can the elongated son of the Forest
City, easily vanquished by Con Albright and John Kilonis, and with nothing to recommend him but victories over Fred Beell, a fourth rate apology for a wrestler, and Scotty McDermott, a man long past his prime, pin the shoulders of the doughty Hanson, winner of scores of battles and conquerors of some of the best middleweights who ever stepped into the padded square, to the mat
for two falls?

Will Aberg after showing mediocre
class in three or four exhibitions, suddenly unbuckle a bag of tricks that will sweep Fritz off his feet and stamp
the Cleveland man as the champion at his weight? Will the man who has beaten Gardner and Albright, to say nothing of Burt Hudson, suddenly find that he has met his master?

If any forecast is made it can point
but one direction. Hanson is known as one of the cleverest in the country.
Aberg is a stranger. Therefore, the oracle points to Fritz as the logical favorite. Unless the surprising thing happens, Fritz Hanson will brand his opponent as a false alarm. If it does happen then it is hats off to Aberg as one of the wisards of the game.

The sporting element of the city are picking the home man to win by odds of 2 to 1. Aberg's wonderful confidence in himself has won him many supporters, but some of the shrewd heads are banking on Fritz.

ROCKY MOUNT SHUT OUT
BY WASHINGTON ROOKIES

Rocky Mount, N. C., March 29.—Very rank errors at very critical stages by the Tar Heels this afternoon tells the story of the 15 to 0 defeat at the hands of the Washington rookies. On the other hand, Lefty Humphries was a complete master for six innings and was never in the slightest danger of being scored on, and he allowed but two safe
ones, while his successor, Doc Ayers, journeyed equally as faultless.

Sawyer continued his comedy, his phenomenal fielding and hitting and after a perfect day with the willow yesterday he did half as well today, slashing out two doubles. The second day of the practice season for the Virginia Leaguers was decidedly an off day with them.

West Raleigh, N. C., March 29.—The

FOR the beginning of a perfect day no one has invented anything more encouraging than a slice of brown, crisp toast; buttered, piping hot—right from the glowing fire. It smells delicious, and tastes more so.

Toasting—that's the fine, simple idea we finally applied to produce the equally "appetizing" Lucky Strike Cigarette. The tobacco—it's toasted, to hold the flavor.

And what's more, it's the real Burley cigarette at last:
you've all been wanting a ready-made cigarette from this "blame good" tobacco.

So here it is, ready for you: Lucky Strike—the real Burley cigarette, and the delicious flavor of toasted tobacco.

7,000 COLORED SCHOOL CHILDREN IN PARADE

County Commencement in Robeson a Gratifying Success

Work of 47 Schools on Exhibition—Prof. N. C. Newbold Speaks—Greatest Celebration Colored People Ever Had in Robeson.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Lumberton, N. C., March 29.—The county commencement for the colored schools held here today was one of the most successful celebrations ever seen in Robeson by white or colored schools. The weather was ideal and the colored people from infant to aged were present, the crowd being estimated at ten thousand, seven thousand school children marching in the parade accompanied by two bands.

The order was perfect, not a single incident occurring to mar the pleasure of any one. The behavior of the visitors was perfect and made a most profound impression on the many white people who viewed the vast assemblage. Robeson colored people have a right to be proud of themselves and the county is justly proud of them.

More United States flags were carried in the parade than many people thought were in the country.

Prof. N. C. Newbold, State agent of rural schools, delivered an address in the tobacco warehouse.

Forty-seven schools had on exhibition various kinds of work done by the pupils.

It has been the greatest day the colored people ever celebrated in Robeson and was thoroughly enjoyed by them.

WADESBORO ALSO HAS ON HAND A MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN

The Political Pot Likewise is Now About to Reach the Boiling Point.

Wadesboro, March 29.—The municipal political pot in this burg is reaching the boiling point. Two complete sets of city officers have announced their candidacy and are beating the bushes for support. The present chief executive, Mayor Earl Dunlap, has made a most efficient officer and he has announced his willingness to serve the city for another term. The board of commissioners supporting the mayor is composed of John T. Pinkston, R. D. Medley, Frank Bennett, H. W. Little and Jule F. Allen, all of whom are now serving the city except Mr. Medley.

Opposing this ticket is U. B. Blalock for mayor, with a board of commissioners composed of W. F. Parson, H. B. Allen, E. L. Hardin, John G. Riddick and Lester J. Rivers. The last named candidates advocate the building of better streets, the owning of the sewer system and the construction of a city hall, while the present administration candidates have not stated definitely what their platform will consist of.

All who know Mr. Blalock have no doubt but that he will use every effort towards bettering the streets and making other needed improvements in the city, and the gentlemen named on his ticket are all men of progressive ideas. The present board has been conservative and have made such improvements as they deemed practical with the revenue they could get without a bond issue.

SPY RUMOR HARD TO DOWN

Wild Report at Goldsboro Causes Investigation by U. S. Officers.

(Special Star Correspondence.)
Goldsboro, N. C., March 29.—The "spy scare" infested this city last night when it was reported that a German spy was en route to this city from Beaufort, traveling on the Norfolk Southern passenger train due here at 8 o'clock, and had in his possession a big batch of photographs he had taken of the sound between Beaufort and Moorehead City, and that a telegram received from the latter city stated that he had purchased a ticket from Beaufort to Washington, D. C. Two United States deputy marshals in this city were apprised of the rumor and it is alleged boarded the train at Miller's station, four miles east of this city, but an investigation of the alleged spy proved the story to be without foundation as he had proper credentials upon his person to convince the officers that his profession was far above that of being a spy. The above rumor which has been discussed considerably in this city today it appears will not down, but Marshal Dorich issued a statement from his office today that there is absolutely nothing to the report.

TWO WOMEN FOR EVERY MAN.

Proportion Applying for Enlistment in the Marine Corps.

New York, March 29.—"Are women more patriotic than men?" During the past week two women in every man have applied for enlistment in the United States Marine Corps, according to Captain Frank E. Evans, officer in charge of recruiting here.

"One woman insisted upon being assigned to duty on a battleship," said Captain Evans. "It was difficult to convince her that women are not permitted to serve in any capacity on warships." A recent ruling of Secretary Daniels provides for the enlistment of women to fill clerical positions, only, in case of war. This has encouraged many patriotic daughters of America, who prefer machine guns to typewriters, to offer their services as actual combatants.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES TO BE HELD IN MCCONNELL'S HONOR

Will Take Place Next Sunday in Moore County Court House.

Carthage, N. C., March 29.—Memorial exercises in honor of Sergeant J. R. McConnell, the American aviator killed in battle with two German airplanes on the French front last week, will be held Sunday next in the Moore county court house here, it was announced today. A general invitation to citizens of North Carolina to attend has been issued.

Sergeant McConnell was a son of Judge S. P. McConnell of this place, and prior to his departure for France had resided here several years.

THEATRICAL

Today the Royal will present the big show which the people have been waiting for all the week, Jewel's Golden Jubilee Company presenting their famous "Golden Revue" for today and tomorrow with the most splendid and magnificent scenic equipment of any show seen in Wilmington during the present season.

"The Golden Revue" is the banner bill of this sterling company of performers, and would have been presented the first of the week, had the scenic equipment arrived. It is the big bill with which this company tries to make a spectacular beginning everywhere they start an engagement, and week-end patrons of the Royal will be fortunate in seeing this biggest of all shows today and tomorrow.

A startling feature of today's big show is a magnificent classic dance by Miss Isabella Morton, formerly with Ruth St. Denis, a dance which she put on with Miss Denis called "Visions of Salome." This big special feature will be a rare treat.

An extra special feature on today's bill will be impersonations by the clever actors of this organization of all well known stage and screen celebrities, including Geraldine Farrar, Anna Pavlova, Eva Tanguay, Irene Franklin, Maude Allen, Fritz Schfer, Geo. M. Cohan and others, a treat that will be worth going miles to see.

The most spectacular and sensational of vogue comedy ever released, "The Land of Nowhere" starring Rube Miller and Lillian Hamilton, full of dancing girls, wood nymphs, sprites and beautiful maidens from beginning to end, with some classic dances.

Double Bill at Grand.

Today at the Grand patrons will get another genuine bargain feast in a great double bill of movies, for the price of one. The first attraction, of course, is the latest two-reel chapter of that great Metro serial achievement, "The Great Secret," in which the crowned king and queen of the screen, Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne, are gaining great honors for their already brilliant career. There's a punch, a go and a bang about every chapter of this serial, added to the brilliant dramatic acting of handsome Francis Bushman and beautiful Beverly Bayne that is putting it over with a rush, and every chapter gains in interest and intensity of action.

The other feature is a mammoth five-reel dramatic feature, "The Double Room Mystery," a tense dramatic detective mystery drama, starring beautiful Gertrude Selby, with Edward Hearn, Ernest Shields and Hayward Macin in the leading roles.

"The Double Room Mystery" is a detective story with many unusual features. The villain in the case is a shyster lawyer—one of those men, whom, as a subtle, says "Never will do any work, but always have plenty of money." It is a rather new to pictures and adds in putting this picture over big.

Double Bill at Bijou.

There's a big double bill in store for Bijou patrons today, two of the biggest two-reel picture offerings that have been combined on a single day's program in many a day.

Of course the topliner for today's bill will be the tenth great chapter of that stirring patriotic and preparedness Pathé dramatic serial achievement, "Pearl of the Army," in which the fascinating Pearl White is winning new laurels all over America.

"The Silent Army" is the title of the tenth chapter, the fullest chapter of thrills that has yet been presented. An aeroplane chase at eighty miles an hour with one machine ramming the other is the big thrill of this episode.

When the Cracker, one of the Silent Menace's henchmen who has the Silent Flyer in charge, becomes aware that Pearl and Adams are pursuing him he realizes he must ram their machine. With the two machines tearing through space at top speed he turns

SELF-SERVICE

Does Not Mean You Have to Go in The KITCHEN AND COOK THE MEAL

We Have Neat, Clean (White) American Men Between You And The Kitchen.

Self-Service means the saving of the expense of waiters standing over you while you eat, saying to themselves, "I wonder if I am going to get a tip?" It means, by cutting out waiters, we can give you more and better food at a price as low as the cheap restaurant will serve you with poor coffee, poor butter, and everything of a low grade. SELF-SERVICE SYSTEM will give you the VERY BEST COFFEE, PURE BUTTER AND EVERYTHING HIGH-GRADE, FIRST-CLASS AND SANITARY.

The average sized cafe should have eight men on the floor every 24 hours and at $15.00 per week and their meals, would cost $150.00 per week, or $7,800 for 52 weeks. By Self-Service, WE SAVE $7,800, AND BY HAVING A CHAIN OF LUNCHEONETTES covering the South the buying all done in Wilmington, we will save the RETAIL AND WHOLESALE PROFIT ON EVERYTHING WE CONSUME.

WE CAN BUY THE BEST OF EVERYTHING at a less price than the single cafe can buy inferior goods. We have the figures on several Self-Service Cafes that made from $12,500 to $15,000 each net profit last year and they all had strong competition.

YOU KNOW if we serve the best of everything and in a sanitary manner, we will have HIGH-CLASS PATRONAGE AND OUR SHARE OF THE BUSINESS. IF WE SAVE ON HELP, AND SAVE ON BUYING, WE MUST MAKE MONEY.

A. L. C. stock is co-operative. These shares are $10.00 each and every share participates in the profits of the entire chain of Luncheonettes to be installed, owned and operated by the American Luncheonette Corporation during the next fifty years.

Our location, at the corner of Front and Princess streets, this city, is ideal, being convenient to all street cars and steamboats. Locations in other cities will be selected with care to get the BEST PLACE POSSIBLE.

BUY STOCK NOW AND GET ALL THE BENEFITS. You, as a citizen of Wilmington and vicinity desire to see this City keep pace with other cities, and you, as a LOYAL AMERICAN should co-operate with us in this enterprise to be OWNED AND OPERATED BY AMERICANS.

Neil O'Brien's Minstrels. Neil O'Brien and his minstrels play their engagement in this city at the Academy of Music at an early date. Mr. O'Brien comes this year with a new show throughout, and with many such and entertaining features. The company contains the name of a few of those who have become identified with this attraction, but for the most part the organization is composed of entirely new material this season. Included in the large roster are such artists as Eddie Ross, Laenas White, Happy Benway, Major Nowak, Jas. Barardi, Leslie Berry, Jonathan Haw, and many others.

These Clothes

Reflect Success

Apparel so often reflects success that we have become accustomed to associating the well-dressed man with accomplishment.

Of course, this applies inversely. Handicapped is he who though capable destroys the impression of capability through carelessness in his wardrobe.

HAZERS BREAK INTO PRIVATE RESIDENCE

Big Party Perpetrates Most Daring Hazing Episode in Years at Wake Forest College

SEVERAL SHOTS ARE FIRED

Freshman's Bed Room Broken Into—Student Hardly Hit Apparently by Any of Sunday Morning Shots

(Special Star Telegram.)

Wake Forest, N. C., March 29.—One of the most daring acts of hazing perpetrated at Wake Forest College in years occurred last Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock when a hazing party said to number ten or more entered a private residence in the town and forcibly held the door to every room in the house while a freshman was hazing, and as the hazing party was leaving the house two shots were fired at close quarters, the first by a member of the hazing party and the second by an inmate of the house, who had left his room through his window and encountered the hazing party as they were leaving through the front door.

Mr. L. W. Chappell, a senior member of the student senate, a student organization that has charge of all cases of hazing, was awakened early Sunday morning when a room diagonally opposite from his on the upper floor was forcibly broken into.

Going to his door, Mr. Chappell found it firmly held from the outside and as he put his foot through his window a man with a gun commanded him to stay in his room.

Mr. Chappell then secured his revolver and forced his way into the hallway and while he was standing in the doorway the hazing party in a room above him rapidly through the door, leaving the house.

Mr. Chappell states that probably the third man in the line fired past his face within two yards of him, and he immediately shot into the line but his hand was pushed just as he shot and no one was hit. His revolver failed to fire a second time and the entire party made its escape quickly.

The student senate has been in session practically every day this week, but owing to the fact that their sessions are held in secret the exact evidence obtained and the action to be taken will not be known until a public announcement is made of their decision.

LIVESTOCK CONFERENCE WAS SPLENDID SUCCESS

Governor Says It Marks New Era in Cattle and Hog Raising

Bickett on Trip Through Carolinas Found People Solidly Behind Wilson in German Crisis—Echo From London.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., March 29.—Returning to Raleigh today from Wilmington, where he spoke yesterday in connection with the Livestock Exposition and Conference, Governor Bickett declared that the exposition was a splendid success and that in his opinion it marks a new era in the raising of pure bred cattle and hogs, especially in Eastern Carolina, where cattle especially have not received as much attention as in Piedmont and Western Carolina, there being abundant room for advancement in these sections as well.

The Governor considered the exhibits of pure bred cattle and hogs most creditable and the conferences were well attended and most profitable.

While away from the executive offices the Governor spent much time in South Carolina as well as in Western North Carolina and says he found the people all of one mind in enthusiastic support of President Wilson in his handling of the German situation and ready to do their part in whatever may be considered needful in protecting the commerce and honor of the country.

A London, England, periodical received here today contains a most creditable reference to Governor Bickett, and his recent declaration for home production of all food supplies, commending the attitude of the Governor to food conservation authorities of England. The article quoted Governor Bickett's declaration to the effect that if he were czar instead of Governor of the State he would issue an edict declaring that after five years any man who dared to import into this State any corn, meat, wheat, flour, beef or bacon should be hanged without jury trial or benefit of clergy.

FEW DROPS AND CORN LIFTS OUT

Says There is No Excuse for Cutting Corns and Inviting Lockjaw.

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply directly upon the corn a few drops of frezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

It is claimed that at small cost one can get a quarter of an ounce of frezone at any drug store, which is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This simple drug, while sticky, dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue.

This announcement will interest many women here, for it is said that the present high-heeled footwear is putting corns on practically every woman's feet.

POPULAR NAME FOR THE COLLEGE IS AGREED ON

"Agricultural & Engineering" is Not to be Eliminated

Conference, Including Governor Bickett, Would Prefer Dropping "State College," If Any Must Be Omitted—Site Bought.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., March 29.—"The last word" was spoken this afternoon by Governor Bickett as to the much and furiously discussed name abbreviation for the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, erstwhile known as "A. & E. M." Officers of the State Farmers Union, Editor Poe of the Progressive Farmer, President Riddick of the college, and members of the alumni association composed the conference with the Governor.

The Governor's statement declared that "after a full conference it was the unanimous sense of the meeting that whenever the college is referred to in the literature sent out from the college or in the press of the State it should be called the State College of Agriculture and Engineering or the Agricultural and Engineering College. It was the further sense of the meeting that these full names should be used and not the initials. It is to be hoped that all good citizens and friends of the college will take due and timely notice of the agreement above, refer to, and govern themselves accordingly."

The Governor and Council of State today purchased a lot on which to erect a fireproof warehouse for State records and property provided for by the recent Legislature. The purchase was at the auction sale of the Woodall property on Morgan street, half square from the Capitol. A lot 116x105 was purchased for $14,500. The entire property brought $23,000.

PRESIDENT WILL SPEAK ALONG BROAD LINES IN DEALING WITH CRISIS

The Zimmermann note to ally Japan and Mexico in war against this country, are regarded as evidence of the evil of the general system. The administration has much material not yet made public and it is understood, moreover, that the complete text of the Zimmermann note has not been published. Further disclosures of intrigues may be expected at any time.

Germany, through the coolness with which she treated the President's proposal to name peace terms, is felt to be the greatest source of danger to world-peace. Some officials, here, who felt her original offer was insincere and merely a play for domestic consumption, believe her refusal to state terms is proof of that contention.

Co-Operation With Allies.

Full co-operation with the Allies, therefore, is generally favored as a necessity to America's future safety. German victory now, it is stated, might lead to a direct attack on this country later and would at least necessitate extensive armament. A deadlock, at the same time, would be tantamount to a German victory on the basis that while, after peace, the German union would become stronger, the entente might very easily fall apart and Germany be left relatively world supreme.

Military authorities here believe that the most Germany expects now is a draw. Why she seems so indifferent to this country's entrance into the war causes much interest. Some officials have predicted for more than a year that Germany would attempt to force this nation into the conflict at the last moment, first in order that her autocracy might save its face before the people by surrendering to the whole world, and second because this country would probably be a generous enemy. The last objection to America's participation was released with the severance of relations when it ceased to be possible for America to get funds to Germany and thus sustain the price of the mark. Before that Finance Minister Helfferich had been most instrumental in curbing the von Tirpitz party of ruthless submarine warfare.

Undecided As To America's Part.

With the United States drawn into the war through no desire of her own, and convinced that the war is a war of self-protection and self-preservation, the exact manner of American participation is undecided. The sending of an army to Europe or the provision of a huge amount of money, $1,000,000,000 to $2,000,000,000, are both being discussed. As for military participation nothing has been determined and decisions must await actual entrance in the war. Some feel that a large army, owing to the need of equipment and diversion of shipping would be more a hindrance than a help. Munitions manufacture, where the United States could be of most value, will be expedited to the greatest possible degree.

Alliances Not Contemplated.

At the same time general alliances with the entente nations are not contemplated. The United States plans to maintain its freedom of action just as far as possible. In a naval and military sense, there will, of course, be full co-operation, but beyond that the country will not assume unlimited liability for the allies' aims. The United States will seek as far as possible to ameliorate the bitterness of the present war and prevent its ending from generating future wars.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT MAY MAKE REPRISALS

The threat of reprisals by the British government in the sinking of hospital ships was issued after a German admiral's statement that the admiralty had convincing evidence that hospital ships were frequently misused for the transportation of ammunition and troops.

In reply the British government denied the German admiral's allegation and pointed out that Germany had the right to search hospital ships in case of suspicion. "A remedy, which they never have utilized."

SHOOTING NEAR STEDMAN

Nelly Averitt Seriously Wounded by His Nephew, Is Reported.

Fayetteville, N. C., March 29.—About 1 o'clock yesterday at a saw mill three miles east of Stedman Nelly Averitt was shot and seriously wounded by his nephew, Carl Armstrong, says today's Observer. It seems that the parties had a quarrel yesterday morning, and about dinner time the two Armstrong brothers came back, had more words and one of the boys shot Mr. Averitt, several buck shot going through his lungs and chest. Dr. O. L. McAdams, of Fayetteville, was hastily called. He returned with Mr. Averitt on the night train for Stedman and carried to the Cumberland General Hospital. Deputy Sheriff Pate went from Fayetteville yesterday afternoon and brought back one of the Armstrong boys. About 8 o'clock last night Carl Armstrong came into Stedman and surrendered to Constable Johnson, who brought him to Fayetteville.

MISSOURI HAS NO BARGES.

River Pilot Suggested Mississippi Plan Forty Years Ago.

Forty years ago J. E. Tebo, who had been a river pilot for nearly a third of a century, taking cognizance of the decline in steamboat navigation which had even then set in, spoke before a meeting of citizens in Kansas City in favor of establishing a barge line. He urged that barges equipped with engines should be built, so that, when around, they could help themselves out of trouble. They could, he pointed out, with apparently exceptional aptitude at that time, be so constructed as to carry a large tonnage with light draft. The meeting agreed that Pilot Tebo's plan was feasible. Something like this has been undertaken on the Mississippi, but, unfortunately enough, Missouri is without barge transportation to the present day.

Though the under dog gets a lot of sympathy, the upper canine gets the gate receipts.
